Everyone at Ainlay is well aware of the fact that we have only two windows in this school, and they're for the plants. Perhaps this lack of sunlight and interaction with our Mother Earth is the cause of quite frequent sightings of strange behavior.

ROTUNDA R A T S

Yes, an entire colour facing page devoted to the square pit in the school called THE ROTUNDA, site of the infamous lunch hour S.U. Activities and one of the few places at Ainlay where there is some natural light (mind you, it really shows when it's dark out). Anyone see the theme we have going here? Windows good, walls-only bad?

At the Game

November 11, 1995, was an amazing day for Titans, witnessing two city championship victories within hours of one another. Senior men's volleyball and football teams each showed tremendous determination and dedication in attaining these goals. Congratulations and thank you to all the fans who came out to cheer, even in the cold weather.

Principal's Message

A yearbook is a treasury of memories frozen in time. The 1995-1996 school year is history, only the memories we created remain to become our personal legends as viewed through the gauze of recollection.

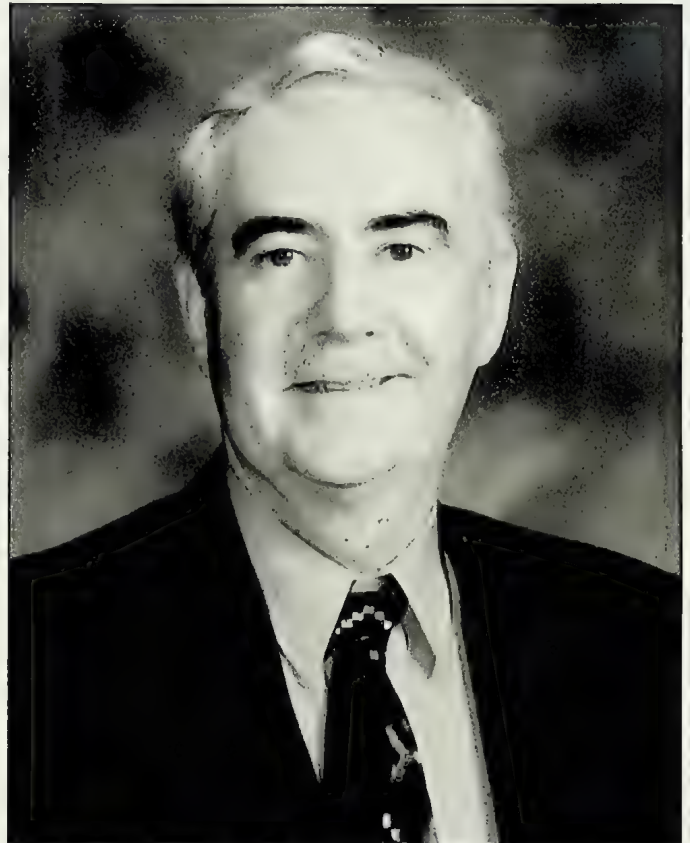

Harry Ainlay provided the focus for our year of shared experiences. It was the point at which our lives touched, and we were more fully enriched.

Thank you to the dedicated editor, staff and advisors who worked so diligently to put this yearbook together. It will serve as an important part of Ainlay's tradition.

May this book help us all to look back with fondness on the final years of our secondary education. And, may it help us better recollect the way we were and what and who helped us become what we are.

Best wishes to all,

M. B. Demaine, Principal

This year's Student's Union theme was Titans Unite and that they did, as seen in many different shapes and forms.

Whether studying together in the library, or lending a hand in autoshop, or even some playful wrestling during lunch, Titans definitely know how to get together and have fun!

camp 96

The Harry Ainlay music program held its first ever music camp at Camp Nakamun in the first week of December. In spite of -40 celsius temperatures, the 140 participants had a great time. Sectional rehearsals, masterclasses, full rehearsals and concerts made the time fly by all too quickly. The camp closed on Friday night with all of the parents arriving for a turkey dinner and concert. We anticipate that this will become an annual event for the music program.

Alberta Tour

'96

In May, approximately 120 students represented the Harry Ainlay Music Program in a series of concerts in Olds, Calgary and Banff. The tour ended with a recreational day for students where they chose to participate in activities ranging from skiing to fishing. Although we never saw proof, some students actually say they caught something. No bones were broken on the ski hill at Sunshine, however Nicole Auch was sporting a new neck brace for several weeks following tour.

Stage Band

As a priority this year, the music department chose to do many local performances and festivals. Performances were held for enthusiastic audiences at several elementary and junior high schools in the surrounding community. Festival season saw the bands and choirs of Harry Ainlay winning major awards at just about everything possible. The year culminated with both Concert Band and Symphonic Band winning GOLD at the provincial festival with Symphonic Band taking the honors for the best overall band in the festival. The many talented musicians in the Harry Ainlay Music Program once again have set the standard for music programs across the country.

ETS Courses at Harry Ainlay

Courses:

- Automotive Technology
- Communication Technology
- Construction Technology
- Cosmetology
- Design Studies
- Enterprise and Innovation
- Fabrication Studies
- Fashion Studies
- Financial Management
- Foods
- Information Processing
- Legal Studies
- Management and Marketing

What is Career and Technology Studies?

In 1988 Alberta Education reviewed courses offered in Industrial Education, Business Education and Home Economics. The curriculum was reviewed and modified to reflect current and anticipated changes in our society and broken into twenty two courses or strands. At Harry Ainlay we now offer over thirteen of these strands in Grades 10, 11 and 12. Curriculum improvements include:

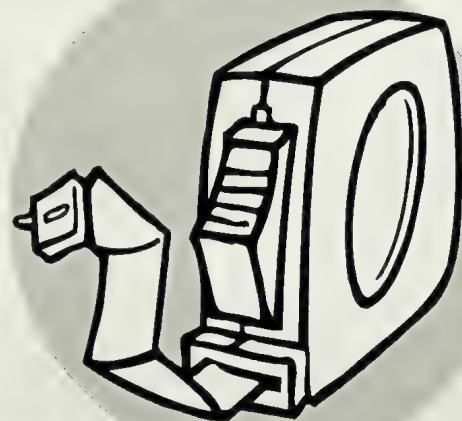

- improved articulation with junior high programs
- increased emphasis on working in the community
- more current content
- emphasis on allowing for different learning styles
- providing more opportunities for individual student progress
- identifying specific learning outcomes in all courses
- recognition of success in a competency based evaluation
- provision for exploratory and career directed study
- capability of students completing studies in several strands
- allowing motivated students to complete additional credits in a course

Highlights of Career and Technology Studies Courses:

- activity centered
- exploratory with a variety of experiences
- oriented for daily life skills
- designed to introduce career opportunities
- of interest to male and female students
- available for 3 and 6 or more credits
- designed to apply theory studied in core courses
- available as a ten credit course towards a diploma
- a refreshing change from the normal classroom setting

Harry Ainlay Art Department

The art classes during the 1990-1991 school year were taught by Mr. Clinton, Mr. Semple and MR. Miller. During the past two, Mrs. Clark was the teacher in the department.

During the year, the art department held several art shows. The first was at the school, the second at the school and the third at Eaton's in the Heritage Mall.

Ainlay has many award winning artists. In an art contest for art students, one student was chosen at the University of Lethbridge in competition with the students of the University of Alberta. The student received 150 entries and three of the five scholarships were won by Ainlay students. The students who received the scholarships were Therese, Adrienne and Gail. The prize was presented by Mrs. Clark to the students. The students who were chosen to represent the school were Therese, Adrienne and Gail. The students who were chosen to represent the school were Therese, Adrienne and Gail.

The art department is proud to have a student who has been chosen to represent the school at the National Art Show. The student who was chosen to represent the school was Therese. The student who was chosen to represent the school was Therese.

President's message

As the years go by, the passage of time increasingly takes on new meaning. It seems like only yesterday that we were choosing a high school and like only this morning that the year began. Over the past few months there have been good times and there have been bad times - but there have always been times. Amidst the blur of classes, tests and activities of the 1995/96 school year, certain things stand out. We will always remember the unforgettable TVT finals in which Ainlay senior men captured the gold, we will remember Western Week's spontaneous line dancing in the rotunda, and we will remember the spirit of Christmas giving along with the McKee Elementary Christmas party. We will cherish memories of the arts, the concerts, the Drama productions, and the athletics, but most of all, we will carry with us the faces of people: of friends, of companions and of teammates. At this time, I would like to thank everybody, and in particular Mr. Olsen and Students' Union, for their efforts in creating Titan Unity. Thanks for caring and for making this year an unforgettable experience!

I will remember you.

Will you remember me?

Don't let your life pass you by,

Leave no fallen memories

-Sarah McLaughlin

The Chess Club

The chess club is not just a place for people to eat lunch, but to enjoy a nice friendly game of the world's oldest strategy game. In the past year the chess club has held two tournaments in which a small number of amateur chess players were competing for the title of "Master Chess Player". Some of the better chess players play two or more chess games at the same time. And one chess player consistently lost all games he played, but some other chess players which are more adept at the game of strategy exceed even the club sponsor himself. Years of boredom have turned one particular chess player from a novice to a near master.

Origami

Skills Canada

Skills Canada is an organization designed to promote technology and leadership skills in youth. The first competition of the year was the cardboard boat races. These teams placed 3rd and 5th out of 17 entries from across the province. This was followed with a cardboard toboggan race where the teams finished an astonishing first in the province.

On April 19, Skills Canada Alberta organized their annual province-wide skills competitions at NAIT. Contestants from our school club participated in many of the events: Business Computer Applications, Cosmetology, Culinary Arts, Desktop Publishing, Internet, Job Interview and Job Skill Demonstration to name but a few.

We were rewarded for our efforts with three of our contestants placing in their categories. Gregory Harlow received a gold medal in the 'Job Interview' competition. Christine Hitesman received a gold medal in the 'Job Skill Demonstration' competition. Chris Jones received a bronze medal in the 'Internet' competition.

All three students went on to the nationals in Montreal, Quebec on May 3. At that level, Gregory and Christine won silver metals in their categories and Chris again won bronze.

Computer Club

The motto of our club very well describes what we do here at the Harry Ainlay Computer Club. Our pursuit to maintain knowledge of current technology leads us to everything from analyzing and testing new hardware and software, to the internet and creating a presence thereof. We also are always willing to help out new students in becoming involved in computers, whether they are new to the topic, or just wishing to learn a new ability in the area.

The club, while still in it's first year infancy, has done fairly well. We have had many loyal members attending each meeting. There are so many fields open, so many areas to work on that we have far too much to cover in one year. Hopefully, with the help of the current members, we can keep the club going for several years to come.

This year we focused mostly on establishing our school as a site on the internet. We look forward to expanding into the dimensions of software authoring and development. And other options are open for discussion, depending on what our members want to do next year.

Club members: Back row: Mike Weaver, Remy Levesque, Ryan Slack, Stuart Moore, Xin Xin, Daniel Irving

Amnesty International

Armed with interest, knowledge and idealism, students began 95-96 with a commitment to making Amnesty International Club active and visible in the school and community.

In September, we secured an international photo exhibit from the Gandhi Foundation. The Art Gallery became the display and learning center of Gandhi's life, ideas and philosophy. Students, under the leadership of Puja Sharma and friends served East Indian samosas and entertained questions on the exhibit.

Nearing referendum day, Amnesty International hosted a forum on Quebec, with teacher and student panel members (Wynne Leung, Caroline Kienholz, James Yearwood, Mr. Bonneville, and Mr. Babin). This forum provided insight into the many perspectives on the Quebec-Canada relationship.

In late November, Amnesty Club held a memorial session to Ken Sara-Wiwa, a recipient of the Nobel prize for literature in 1995. A University of Alberta grad student (and friend of Mr. Sara-Wiwa) spoke at the noon hour session on human rights abuses in Nigeria. This case brought to a world stage the work of Amnesty International and the importance of human rights.

"Human Rights Day" highlighted an information and awareness campaign on East Timor. Andrew Lyster's research and presentation provided the catalyst for a letter writing campaign. Letter writing sessions are the "foundation" of Amnesty's work. Andrew Dacks, Ben Bagnall, Sam Tang, and Cara Ducasse led several sessions throughout the year.

Annual events such as the Benefit Concert and Film Festival provide entertainment, awareness and funds to continue the work of Amnesty International. Students put in countless hours organizing, preparing and presenting these events. The concert executive of Ramneek Rai, Andrew McIntosh, Jeremy Schiff, Andrew Dacks, Marilyn Carey, Janice Sorenson, and Martin Spacek, recruited many Ainsley students to ensure the success of the concert. "XII House", "Lucid", and the "All Women's Brothers Band" volunteered their talent for the concert and the proceeds were sent to Amnesty International. Ryaz Changpar chaired the film festival in April. This annual event is both informative and entertaining.

While the steering committee of Amnesty Club sets the direction, the grassroots support and participation in the school is the strength.

We remain committed to Amnesty's slogan "It is better to light a candle than curse the darkness."

M. Newbold.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The pupose of the International Club is to promote aware-ness and appreciation of cultural diversity. We are always looking for more student members and staff sponsors. The most visible project we do is the ethnic fashion show at Open House, in March.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club provides students with an opportunity to enrich their high school mathematics education by preparing for and participating in a number of competitions over the school year. The most important of these are the Alberta High School Mathematics competition, and the Canadian Mathematics Competitions. Harry Ainlay has a tradition of excellence in these competitions and the tradition continues this year. Our school team consisting of Byung Kyu Chun, Vivian Yu, and Sudhakar Sivapalan won the AHSMC, with Byung finishing first in the individual competition. The top students in the AHSMC are invited to write the Canadian Mathematics Olympiad exam in April, and try to qualify for Canada's International team.

Environment Club

It was another great year for the Environment Club and the earth. With more and more programs and activities such as the addition of paper and tetra pak collection and the successful Environmental Awareness Week, Harry Ainlay is a proud "Green" example for other schools. Our "Mr. Smog" pinata left some people spinning while our tasty treats from our bake sale were a huge hit. Grad Council also took initiative in helping the environment, by taking over the weekly pop can collection as a fundraiser this year. All of the Environment Club's efforts, and the hard work of the members help to make Ainlay a beautiful, clean, and environmentally friendly place to be.

Pottery Club

1995-96 was a very active year for the Pottery Club. Students met after school on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday and had an opportunity to work on the wheel, sculpt, do hand-building, and raku firing. Edwin Chiu was our president during semester I, but went to Alex Taylor school during semester II to work as a teacher's aid and set up an after-school pottery program. The Pottery Club members are: Nicole Burisch, Iva Cheung, Melanie Chondo, Aynour Salama, Paul Agrell-Smith, Anne Kanciar, Iain Ilich, Herbert Woo, Sherrin Berezowsky, Nick Rudniki, Stephanie Taneda, Nichole Vangaalen, Stacey Smyth, Angie Kim, Tianna Mapstone, Alan Chiu, Kay Lewis, Kathy Gamach, and Morgan Funston. The teacher sponsor is Mr. Dan Miller.

Radio Club

The Radio Club is the most awesome club in school! For all you music freaks out there, this is the club for you! We play the music you choose, in the rotunda, where you are. In addition to this we also run sound for all your student's union events, like TriProv, assorted fashion shows, and S.U. rallies. This past year, we were able to take tours to actual radio stations to see broadcast radio in action. Come and experience Radio Club excitement!

Speech & Debate

In the rebuilding year of the Harry Ainlay speech & debate club, a great deal has been accomplished. We have had informal debates with various topics - "Is it fate or our own free will which guides our life?", "Does sex kill romance?", "Should Canada reinstate the death penalty?". In November, our members participated in a model session at the legislature, acting as M.L.A's debating health issues. We have judged and debated in regional debates across Edmonton. All and all, the year showed the rebirth of a club that we hope will continue to remain in existence for many years to come.

Climbing Club

Rock climbing has been described as "Vertical Gymnastics" and it is an all inclusive exercise that challenges both mind and body by enhancing concentration, coordination and strength.

Harry Ainlay High school's Climbing Club will give the student the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of climbing, which include safety techniques, rope work, and general body movement. The activities of the club include lunch hour meetings within the school and several trips to the climbing walls at the University of Alberta, and the Vertically Inclined Climbing Gym.

The students are required to pay $10.00 per year for the Climbing Club fee. This fee helps to offset the cost of boots, harnesses, ropes, and miscellaneous equipment which is used on club outings. In addition, the climbing center charge $6-$8 per session to climb at their facilities.

Here we are, yet another year, yet another yearbook. It's been a big challenge putting this book together, between THE INTREPID EDITORS coming close to near madness (or are we there already?...), MAC server crashes (Sorry, those of us with finer taste in computers are Pentium huggers, right Amy?), and the Internet (Serene, stop looking for Law & Order home pages!!!), the road to producing a book for all of Ainlay has been a bumpy one but one that has been worthwhile. Except for when we are reduced to BEGGING, PLEADING, WHINING, GROVELLING for written copy from clubs (and certain teachers...), which is not our idea of fun. Thanks to everyone who has put in their share of time in this book and has risked their lives in the darkroom breathing in the fumes from those infamous developing chemicals. And an indirect thanks to Noah Wyle and Matthew Fox (Oy Vey!) for being there when we needed to do a little lusting...why is it always so hot in here?!

Titanic

Thanks to everybody who helped out this year. And for those of you who didn't, you missed out in the glories of being a lowly Titanic typist. We put out four issues this year and I am proud to call myself a member of this newspaper club.

Young Life

"Young Life" is a club where students have the chance to get involved in great activities outside of school with friends from school. Some of the activities include a fall camp at Wabamun Lake, ski nights around Edmonton, Club Nights at different people's houses, teacher's convention ski camp, and the most exciting event, "Malibu Camp", two weeks during the summer in the coastal mountains of the Vancouver area. Anyone can get involved. About 20 Ainlay students participated in activities in 95/96.

The Muse is Ainlay's Arts Magazine, designed to showcase students' talents in the areas of poetry, short story, essay, visual art, and other publishable creative endeavors. 1995-96 saw the publication of the second edition of The Muse, as well as contests for poetry, prose, and drawing.

Frankfurt-Edmonton Exchange

After one busy and stressful week of preparation and a ten hour plus exciting flight we arrived tired in Edmonton, but were very happy to see our exchange partners again. The next day our program began. It was very varied, so that we had many different and new impressions, especially the Rocky Mountain tour. It was rad and rocked. We were really impressed by the nature and the vastness of this land. Everybody enjoyed the fresh air, especially our boys in their sleeping-room in the youth hostel in Jasper, being together in one room with about 40 other men. But we were compensated at the Holiday Inn, where we spent a wonderful night with all the luxuries we could imagine, such as a swimming pool, sauna, electronic stuff, etc. A big surprise was to see Mr. Wurmun again.

Along with all these activities of our program, we also spent a very nice time with our host families, who helped a lot to make our trip so wonderful, so thanks a lot, for the most wonderfull, greatest, funniest, most fascinating, and in short, best time we ever had! Never forget ya!

Ping Pong

Members of this club come out regularly to exercise their eye and hand coordination skills in the demanding game of table tennis. The point producing shots in this game not only consist of speed and placement like tennis, but spin also. This is more crucial in this game than it is in tennis. So come out and challenge yourself to this exhilarating sport.

A "Canadian Encounter" is an event that nine students from Harry Ainlay were privileged to experience during the 1995-1996 school year. This is a wonderful week where the following students spent time at the Terry Fox Centre in Ottawa with "Encounters With Canada."

Encounters With Canada is a one week experience where students from across Canada congregate in Ottawa to learn about their country and to meet many Canadians from the ages of 15 to 17. It is a time to learn about the similarities and differences of Canadians and to genuinely have fun learning and socializing. This program is highly subsidized by the Federal Government to enhance in students an understanding of Canada and the people who inhabit the country. The students from Harry Ainlay, who attended Encounters With Canada, were unanimous in the feeling that the week at the Terry Fox Centre was truly a worthwhile and rewarding experience.

Veronica Mohan, Trevor Preston, and Randeep Randhawa also received a CTS Scholarship to assist in a CTS course that was in conjunction with the "Encounters" experience. All three of these students were enrolled in Law 30 at the time they went to Encounters With Canada.

WRESTLING

After a six year absence from the sports program, wrestling returned to Ainlay. Harry Ainlay is once again making its mark in the world of high school wrestling.

The team completed their season by placing second in the Edmonton zone championships. Sixteen of our wrestlers were eligible to compete in provincials held in Lethbrige. Bill Walls and Crystal Anderson captured the bronze medal in their weight class. Congatulations on a successful season.

TVT XVI BEY

TVT began 16 years ago as a one-day, 10-team tournament. This year it showcased 16 teams, highlighting the best high school volleyball talent across Western Canada. As always, much time, effort, and hard work were made by numerous volunteers. Special recognition should be made for the TVT organizing committee for their enthusiasm and dedication over the six months prior to the big event. The TVT memories and experiences that we shared will last us a lifetime. And finally, an additional thank-you to the staff sponsors, the principal, and of course, Harry Ainlay High School for supporting one of the most prestigious tournaments in Western Canada, and making this year's TVT Beyond Belief!

Yours truly,

Badminton Team

The Harry Ainlay badminton team completed a successful 3-month season (February, March, April) finishing first in the East division edging out Scona by one game. In the playoffs, Ainlay defeated Victoria three matches to two. Lenny Lee won the girls singles, Albert Lin and Scott Roles won the boys' doubles. Unfortunately Ainlay had to settle for silver medals as they lost 5-0 to Scona in the finals when Scona brought in their nationally ranked club player.

In the provincial zone eliminations all the teams entered made it to the crossover playoffs before losing out with the exception of Scott Roles who qualified number one in the city public for intermediates/singles before losing out to the Metro winners.

Harry Ainlay's five curling teams had a busy schedule. From October 24 to February 15 they curled in the Greater Edmonton High School Curling League on Tuesdays. During this period the teams were also involved in several practice sessions; the senior girls' team participated in a high school bonspiel at the Ottewell Curling Club, and four of the teams were involved in the Edmonton Zone Curling Playdowns.

Three Harry Ainlay teams finished the Greater Edmonton High School Curling League play-off schedule with second place (silver medal) standing - senior girls' team in the championship final division, mixed team (A) in the championship final division, and mixed team (B) in the consolation final division.

Team members are to be congratulated for their commitment, effort, and sportsmanlike attitude throughout the season. A thank-you is extended to those parents who were able to come out to the games, and a special thank-you to Mr. Dawe, who used his van to transport team members between the school and the Shamrock/Ottewell curling clubs.

Synchronized Swimming

The age span of the team is 15-24 years of age. One of the team members is Coreen Laing, a graduate from Harry Ainlay in 1993 and Kristen Normand, an Olympic Trialist for Team Atlanta, and a Louis St. Laurent graduate. The senior Aurora synchronized swimming team was selected by SynchroCanada to represent Canada in Scotland at a very large international meet in October 1996, and Zoe Hoskins was selected to represent Canada with her solo at the 15-17 year level at a small meet in New Zealand in September.

Zoë Hoskins

At nationals Zoe was ranked 15 out of 215 in the country for the 15-17 age group which qualified her to be one of the 24 trialists for the National Youth Team. In senior level, Zoe ranked 51 out of 87 which is outstanding results when she was a first-year swimmer. Last year at nationals in Toronto Zoe led a nine member team from the Edmonton Auroras to take the Junior Team Championship and she was ranked 7th in the county at Junior level. Zoe trains at Kingsmen Aquatic center from September until mid May. She trains 25 hours per week and this includes three morning practices at 5:30 in the morning.

With a team of only 25 athletes, this year marked the lowest number of entrants at the Divisionals in nine years. Of the 23 that actually participated, 20 made it to the City Championships. Harry Ainlay finished sixth at the City Championships with outstanding performances from Marianne Radmanovich, who won her third gold medal in high jump, and Matt Norminton, double gold medalist in the Sr. Boys 3000m and 1500m. Along with Marianne and Matt, three others, Karen Gawne (Int. Girls 400m), Priscilla Chan (Int. Girls Long jump) and Sheila Gregg (Jr. Girls Long jump), represented Harry Ainlay at the Provincial Championships in Edmonton June 7th and 8th, 1996. Marianne Radmanovich performed admirably winning her third consecutive Provincial Gold medal in High jump with a personal best of 1.66m (retired). Both Matt (1500m) and Karen (400m) also won Provincial Bronze medals. This was my final year of coaching Track and Field and it was a pleasure working with such a superb and dedicated athlete as Marianne. I wish her all the success as a member of the UofA Track Team. Congratulations to all. Thank You.

GRAD COUNCIL

VALEDICTORIANS

Good evening fellow graduands, teachers, parents and distinguished guests. We are both greatly honoured tonight to have the distinction of giving the valedictory address for our fine graduating class, and to celebrate our years at Harry Ainlay.

As our first steps into high school feel no further than yesterday, it seems hardly possible that so much has occurred in such a short time. Still, what we have learned and what friendships we have made extend well beyond our three years together. It is striking how boundless the experience truly is.

The spirit of Harry Ainlay has made this experience possible. It is the spirit of community, of living and learning -- the spirit that permeates our hallways, classrooms, and even this auditorium tonight. The sense that makes Harry Ainlay a place of vitality, a place of growth, is one of our greatest fortunes. We have grown in the presence of people whom we respect and admire -- our friends and teachers. With their guidance and support, they have helped shape who we are.

The legacy of our teachers will never end. To what extent we will draw upon their inspiration as a resource eludes prediction. To what uses we put our skills and insights knows no end. Whether we seek to fulfill our own ambitions, or inspire in turn another multitude in the future, our educational experience defies limits either in place or time.

Tonight's graduation ceremony marks the last milepost of our high school marathon. As nervous and enthusiastic entries into this journey three years ago, we knew the trials of high school would challenge us time and again. Now and then, some of us fell victim to discouragement questioning our ability to finish in the pack. Yet, right now before us is the final lap when the finish becomes increasingly clear and our doubts virtually vanish. Although the end is only paces away, it is not time to slow down but rather to accelerate and finish with that very same vigour.

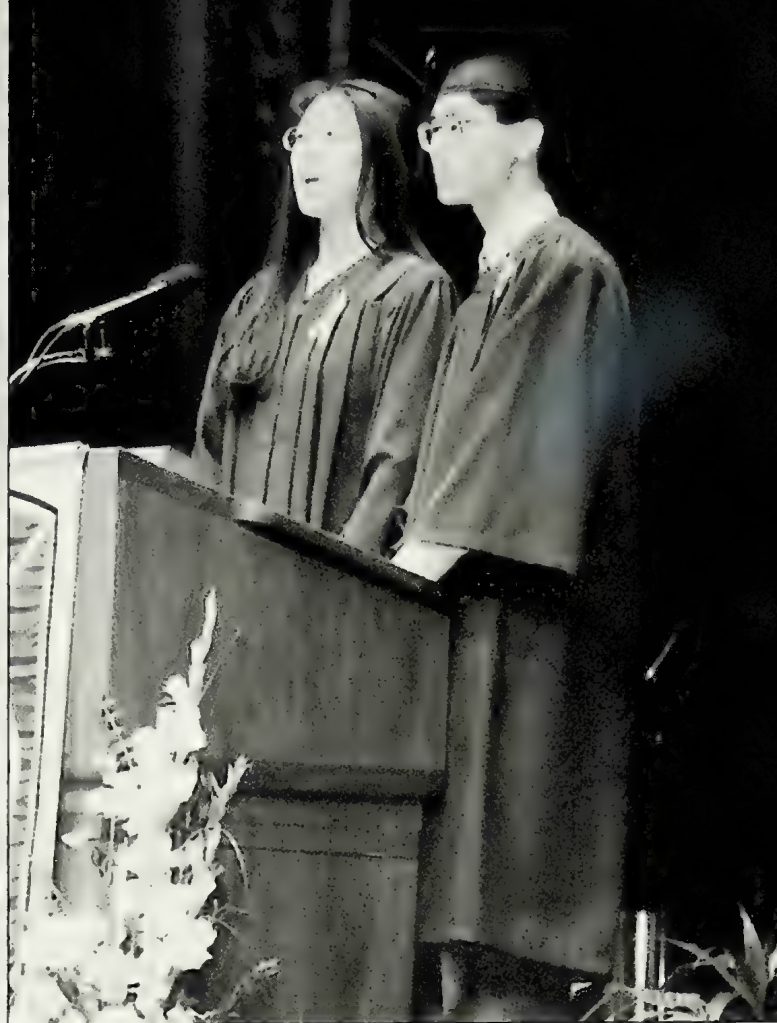

While one episode may be ending, the future invites us with new promise. Tonight represents not only the end of a journey but a new beginning. Tonight is the starting point for grand adventures, each unique as ourselves. The future holds our dreams within reach, and as we have done tonight, we need only to stride confidently forward and grasp those dreams.

We now begin to leave some of our friends as we see new and diverse challenges. Although we may be sad to part, we may cross paths again. Regardless, these people will never truly be left behind. We will carry them with us as we explore new horizons, just as we now walk among them. The memories which we share will remain with us as we surge into the future.

These are the memories of a lifetime, and memories are forever.

Wynne Leung and Peter Wong

<Music - "Stuck in the Middle with You">

<Brendan and James emerge from audience with an air of excitement, move to podium, and get their microphones.>

J: This is so unexpected, we haven't even prepared a speech.

<Brendan and James whip speeches out of their gowns. Brendan puts alarm clock on podium and lets ring.....>

B: Good morning Ainlay, these are your commencement announcements. Sorry to wake you, I'm James Rowe.....

J: And I'm Brendan Doran.....<Look at each other...then exchange papers...> Sorry, I mean, I'm James.....

B: And I'm Brendan..... Ladies and Gentlemen, we stand before this evening to give you a history lesson. A history lesson that began on August 29, 1993, and ends on June 28, 1996. This lesson will be divided into three parts. And they will be called, after a great deal of soul searching and quite a few sleepless nights on our part.....Grade 10.

J: Grade 11.

B: And Grade 12. Isn't it amazing that this group sitting before us have bridged the gap between the scared.....immature.....insecure.....inept.....prepubescent.....and might I suggest bizarre grade 10s, into wise, experienced, and all-knowing grade 12s. It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, but it was usually in-between. We now take you over to James.....who is standing next to me.

<James, who is off in his own little world, jolts back into the present>

J: Remember the fateful first day of grade 10, when with an innocent flick of your pens you signed your lives away on the back of your Harry Ainlay Identification Cards. The day your name officially changed from James Rowe to 11145.

B: Just like prison inmates.

J: Except in prison, I think that they have windows.....

B: Yeah, and I think they feed you too.....

J: The first thing we learned about was Ainlay's most renowned landmark, the rotunda. This slab of concrete is the heart of Ainlay's pride and has been host to many an activity. It is guarded by the sword and shield and Ainlay's motto, In Omnibus Excelsior...sends shivers up your spine, doesn't it?

B: You know, I've been here for three years, and I still have no idea what that means.

J: In Omnibus Excelsior.....

B: I think it's Latin for the mess we're in. While we are thinking of messes, what about Ainlay's dances?

<"Staying Alive" starts playing. Brendan and James start to groove. Music ends abruptly.>

Mind you, I don't mean to say that there are a lot of dances.....and for good reason.....but students soon discover that everyone on the dance floor is a teacher and that "dance" really means "staff-mixer."

J: Yeah, but hanging out with teachers can be really great.

B: Yeah, we had to spend a lot of time with them in preparation for this speech.....

J: <Pretending to be a teacher, no one specifically, I assure you> Boys, boys, I've got a great line you've got to use! OK, listen to this, OK, oh boy, this is great. OK, Mr. DE-maine became our principal this year, right? Right? OK, and he's the MAN in charge, right? OK, so he's DE-Main man.

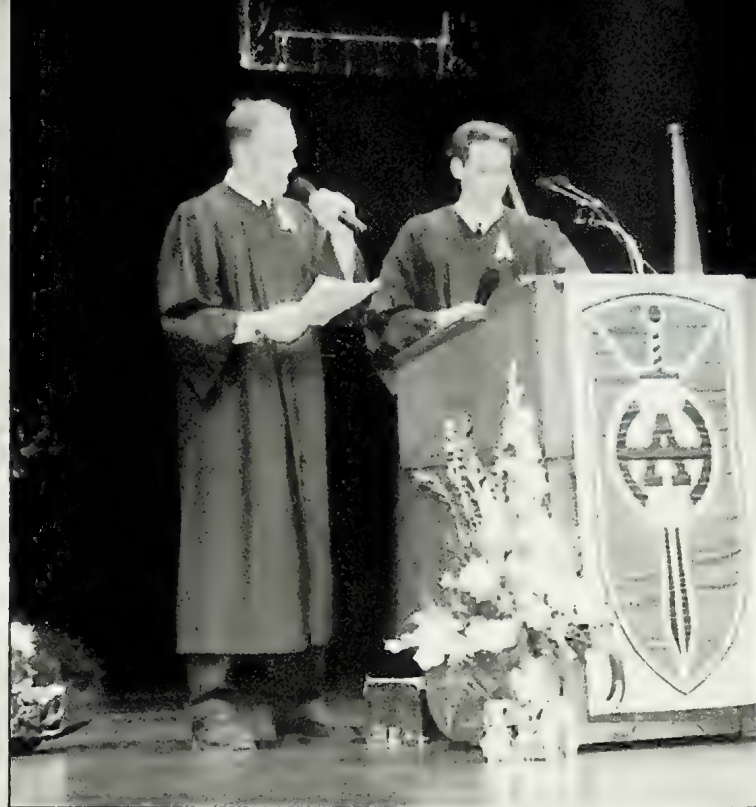

<crazy-ass laugh track>

J: Sometimes if teachers were too much you'd have to resort to the ancient ritualistic art of SKIPPING.

B: Where it was taken to a higher level, when students would mysteriously suffer from obscure illnesses at opportune times, usually during scheduled exams.

J: Times when yours and your parents' signatures would fuse into one.

B: James.....

Class Historians Brendan Doran & James Rowe

J: Brendan.....

B: Grade 10, a year when math was a course not to be taken literally, no math is a course not to be taken. yet despite the overload of homework.....

J: NOT DONE.

B: And the abundance of lecture notes.....

J: NOT TAKEN.

B: We have ultimately passed with flying colours.....well, we just passed.....well, we were not asked to leave.....but to stand before you tonight.

And now a brief look. <Brendan and James stare deeply>

J: And then there was Harry Ainlay's own Bookstore.

B: Now I don't know if the administration just feels more comfortable calling it a "bookstore," but I've never purchased any "books" there.

J: When leaving the "Bookstore" it was tough not noticing Ainlay's colourful clothing section where the slogan is, "If it isn't tie-dye, it might actually sell....."

<"Supermodel" starts playing as Ainlay models come out sporting the Bookstore clothes.>

J: Karen and Nima are looking FABULOUS in the versatile Ainlay gear which doubles as either chic evening wear, or comfortable underwear.

B: Christina, wearing a smashing ensemble this evening, with the back-to-70's Titans T-shirt, 80's Kangaroo top, and sweat pants of any age, with that down-to-earth look, making the fashion statement of "Hi, I'm a Titan."

Ready for any occasion are Keri and Katie, sporting the Harry Ainlay shop attire, leisure suit gone mad.

1994 brought about profound changes, with Ralph Klein becoming our premier we saw the first of the cutbacks, as toilet paper was removed from the washrooms because it was considered a luxury.

J: Perhaps deterred by the lack of bathroom sanitation, Mr. Sande and Mr. Jaques retired that year, in search of two-ply.

B: Also leaving us in 1994 was Mrs. Demaniuk, the school's head secretary since its christening in 1967. She was an integral part of the school's running, for the 27 years that she was here. Also since 1967, this school has had a long tradition of incoherent announcements.....dshghiaegitfgjkhskfiethgs.....OFFICE PLEASE.

We fled for the summer only to return with drivers' licenses to be introduced to the double spare and CALM. Career and Life Management. If only it was that easy.

J: Yes, CALM, where the visual aids were way too visual. And who could forget THE MOVIE - <James and Brendan look at each other and take deep breaths>...On occasion when we were subjected to EDUCATIONAL FILMS such as these, Career and Life management went from being abbreviated as C-A-L-M to S-P-A-R-E.

B: Ahh.....the spare, once you have one.....there is no turning back.

J: It starts off as an innocent 1-2, then suddenly it becomes a 3-4.....

B: And then the beast takes over.....you find that your schedule becomes a.....1-2-3-4-5-----7-8 spare. <Trying to sound cool> Man, I had a period 6 class today, but I skipped it and went to Hawrelak Park and played on the paddle boats, all-right.....If not involved in extra-curricular <emphasized> activities, you might have had the chance to catch the opening ceremonies of Tri-Prov 1995.....

J: Where due to UNFORESEEN technical difficulties Mr. Powell took it upon himself to warm the buzzing crowd with the singing of a twangy country and western song.

B: Now don't get us wrong, Mr. Powell is an excellent singer.

J: But he doesn't quite have that distinct vocal quality needed to sing country music.....

B: I don't think anyone has that.....

J: Except for Shania Twain of course, she's amazing.

B: Her music, right?!!!!!!

J: Yeah, right.....her music.....Yeah, um, I don't even know what she looks like, it's just that her music really touches me.

B: <Looking at James oddly> Some things that didn't happen over our three years at Ainlay were a "serious" fire or even the smallest of chemical spills. But because these events shaped the lives of the graduating classes before us, we took fire alarms very seriously.....<A fire alarm goes off, while James and Brendan fix their ties, hair, file nails, etc.> Yeah, right.....<After that, Mr. McCaughan's voice is heard over the intercom.>

Mr. M: <on tape> Good morning Harry Ainlay, there will be an announcement in 4 seconds.....I'm very sorry for the interruption, this will only be a brief message, not long at all, only a couple of seconds, well maybe a little longer, maybe a couple of minutes, just pretend I'm not even here. Now what was the message? This is an important message for people who have cars.....cars are presently being towed, today in the cafeteria, Lucky Charms are on sale for half-price. Thank you Ainlay, have a great day.

J: This year was marked for the dreaded words, "they're towing....."

B: <In a bitter voice> You go outside to find your car, but it mysteriously disappeared and the only thing you find in place of your car is the director of Confederation Pool, laughing at you.

J: It's all right man, everything's all right.....If anyone here knows the director of Confederation Pool, Brendan would still like to find his car.

B: 1995 was the year that saw Ms. Wilson abandon.....or shall I say.....bade a fond farewell to this institution of higher learning.....or Correctional Institute.

J: Grade 11 was also the year that Mr. Poole traded his sneakers in for literacy - now along with paperbacks, hardcovers, and periodicals you can also sign jockstraps out of our library. Also in 1995, Ainlay was selected to host the 12th Canadian Student Leadership Conference, fondly abbreviated as CSLC.

B: The conference will be held next year when 600 delegates from around the country will convene in Edmonton to rejoice in the joys of Leadership.....

J: WOW Ainlay

B: By 1996 this class has reached its place at the top of the high school hierarchy. A year so much enjoyed by some, that they will be returning next year. At this time we would like to wish the senior football team the best of luck in the upcoming season.

J: This is actually the last graduating class that will be allowed to return for free, so what do you say Ainlay, let's all bomb our diplomas and take advantage of this amazing deal.

B: Students who will not be returning next year are Harry Ainlay's more potent breed of IB students, that are pushed to achieve new heights in academic excellence. But the components of the IB course load are contradictory to the international human rights regulations as set down by the UN (Unified Nerds).

J: <Very upset> Welllllll.....if not in IB you could enjoy the ambience of Ainlay's most famous exit, EXIT 11.....sponsored by DuMaurier - "Try our new unfiltereds, for the more sophisticated smoker....."

In other news there was a national crisis in our grade 12 year.

<Brendan starts singing the national anthem softly> The thread of losing Quebec was the cause for Ainlay students to band together as we became part of something on a grander scale.....<James takes over the singing and Brendan continues>

B: Being the largest high school in western Canada, Ainlay showed its true colours, and offered its opinion on the Quebec referendum by signing a fifteen foot card to their sister school in Quebec.....

J: But we think that the French teachers should have proofread what we had written, because the simple phrase, "Bonjour Jacques Parizeau, comment ca va?" was misinterpreted as saying.....

B: Jacques Parizeau.....<In a French-Canadian accent> It's my way or the highway.....and by the way, it's my highway.

J: AND WHO COULD FORGET Harry Ainlay's illustrious drama program which with the mounting of A State of Siege, Marat-Sade, and Trojan Women becomes more and more "dramatic" each year.

B: Of growing concern to all of us are the mounting pressures of diploma examinations. With the completion of Book 9, Volume 5, Part 12, Section C2 of the Math 30 final exam, students found their own individual ways of celebrating. Ranging from checking into hospitals, checking into bed.....and just checking out.

J: As you and your peers herd into the gym you hear various horror stories along the way, from the motivated type like - "I have not slept, eaten, or gone to the bathroom in two weeks, but I'm going to ace that Accounting test" or from the tactile, studious type, "I've got the entire Treaty of Versailles outlined on my tongue."

B: You sit down, write your name on your exam, and then you hear over the loud speaker, "One hour has now elapsed, you may now leave." Then the panic sets in. But you could always find some comfort in the trusty HB pencil by your side.

On June 28th, 1996, we will freely step for the last time into a single-levelled, windowless, brown-brick building that has stood for education since 1967.....but then again, so have most of the teachers.

J: About 95% of what these teachers have taught us is going to be totally useless in life. Like, I don't need to know the Pythagorean Theorem to use the MacDonald's Drive-Thru window. But seriously folks, that remaining 5% is what is essential. What comprises this 5% is the incredible maturation we have undergone these last three years.

We arrived as impressionable "yutes" and leave here as adults who are primed and ready for the next challenge. We walked through these halls as Titans but even when we graduate I think that we are all going to carry some of that Titan with us. For we have learned to do all that we do in excellence. Life gets a little more serious now, but I know that we're ready for it because this school has moulded us into confident, mature students WHO HAVE THEIR PRIORITIES STRAIGHT.....My gosh, only 48 Fabutan hours until Grad!!!

B: In the midst of chaos and paperwork, we laughed, we cried, we bonded, and we did take in an abundance of very practical knowledge, but we would like to offer some advice.....remember that there is life after high school, and always keep the everlasting impression Ainlay has had on us in your heart. We leave here mature, better informed, still with lots of questions, and always with an HB pencil.

B & J: Thus Endith the lesson.

<"One" by U2 plays as Brendan and James exit>

Grad

"It's the End of the World As We Know It..." Or is it? Chances are, most of us will be heading off to University, pursuing higher education, and paying dearly for it (in more ways than one?). We'll be meeting new people, sitting in 400-student lecture classes, buying ridiculously expensive textbooks we might not even use...and we'll all be of legal drinking age!!! (Note the emphasis on LEGAL)

Grad Night is always something special, not only because it means we're this >< close to finishing high school, but because it's the one night where people actually get dolled up. Don't you wish you had invested in hairspray and bobby pin stock beforehand? Not to mention colour film?

Never have so many flashbulbs gone off at any given time...

We hope this pictorial and the pages to follow pretty much say it all about Grad.
We've tried to represent as many people as possible, and it's been quite a challenge. We've also tried to find pictures where people aren't wearing the same dress...we don't need more catfights! Note
the absence of AFTER-Grad photos... our publisher probably wouldn't have printed some of the more memorable photos we've seen. That, and the people in them just might not remember
what they were doing,
and who they might have been doing those things with... But since this is a PG-rated book, we'll leave it at that.
